

028 Gymleco Chest Press, Standing

010 Series Plate Loaded machines

This Standing Chest Press from Gymleco is a plate loaded machine with adjustable back and 10 different grip angles. Pressing from a standing position automatically puts your body into a very solid, grounded position to press from allowing you to focus fully on your chest for maximum muscle fibre recruitment.

The Standing chest press gives you a stable and supported chest press training. It improves balance and targets your pecs, shoulders but also biceps and triceps. Optimum chest development comes from correct and variable movement. Pressing from a standing position automatically puts your body into a very solid, grounded position to press from, allowing you to focus fully on your chest for maximum muscle fibre recruitment.
