

321 Gymleco Seated Wide Chest Press

300 series, Selectorized machines

This chest machine has a two handles to choose from. Both with a natural movement that is gentle on your body. It goes from a wide starting position, via an ergonomic V-shaped movement path until the handles meet in the final position. Effective and safe at the same time. Use the seated wide chest press machine by pressing some of the two rubberised handles forward in a classic chest press movement. The feeling and difference in the V-movement makes this gym machine one of our topsellers. The chest machine follows your natural body movement. This results in a higher and more efficient activation of the chest muscles and reduces the strain on ligaments and muscles. The sensation is the same as with free weights but safer and more stable.
